2.5 Course Assessment

2.5.1 Grading System

The marks, grades and the corresponding grade points are as defined below:

Marks Range	Grade	Grade Point	Status
90 – 100	A+	4.0	Excellent
80 – 89	A
75 – 79	B+	3.7	Good
70 – 74	B	3.3
65 – 69	B-	3.0
60 – 64	C+	2.7
55 – 59	C	2.3	Pass
50 – 54	C-	2.0
40 – 49	D	1.7	* Conditional Pass
0 – 39	F	0	Fail

**Note: A student awarded with a Grade D is considered to have passed a course if his/her CGPA is 2.00 or higher at the end of his/her studies.*

The grade point average (GPA) for any one semester is calculated as follows:

$$\text{GPA} = \frac{\sum (\text{credits earned for each course} \times \text{grade point awarded for the course})}{\text{The total credits earned in a semester}}$$

The cumulative grade point average (CGPA) for all the semesters starting from the first semester is calculated as follows:

$$\text{CGPA} = \frac{\sum (\text{credits earned for each course} \times \text{grade point awarded for the course})}{\text{The cumulative credits earned in all semesters}}$$

2.5.2 Weightage of Final Examination and Coursework

You shall be assessed based on the following percentage breakdown for final examination and coursework:

- (i) Final examination shall constitute 50% of the total marks; and
- (ii) Coursework which includes quizzes, assignments, projects, laboratory reports etc. shall constitute the remaining 50% of the total marks.

2.5.3 Final Examination Deferrals

You are allowed to defer your final examination(s) if you are physically incapable to sit for any of your final examinations due to illnesses, or exceptional circumstances such as accidents, bereavement or personal tragedy. You must apply for approval and provide any relevant supporting evidence such as police reports, medical reports or certificates, etc. at the latest three (3) working days after the official scheduled date(s) of the final examination(s) of the said course(s). Once your request for a final examination deferral has been approved, there shall be no mark penalties applied to your final grade in any of the said courses. However, if you make your application outside of the aforementioned time frame, your application will be rejected and you will not be given a replacement for any of your missed final examinations.

2.5.4 Failure to Complete a Final Examination

If you decide to leave the examination venue without completing the examination of a course for whatever reason (including being ill) at any time after the examination has started, you are deemed to have sat for the final examination of the course and whatever marks awarded for your paper will be treated as your final examination marks and no replacement of your final examination will be granted.

2.5.5 Resitting a Final Examination

2.5.5.1 Students in the Third or Later Semester of Study

If you have completed at least three (3) semesters of study, you may be offered the opportunity to resit the final examination(s) of specified course(s), subject to certain terms and conditions. You may be allowed to resit the final examinations of up to three (3) passed, conditional passed or failed courses and your final grade in those courses will be capped at a Grade C+.

You do not need to apply for the resit opportunity since it is automatically offered to you if you come under one of the following categories [Note: Categories (i), (ii) and (iii) are students who are granted Special Consideration for Graduation]:

- (i) You fail to attain a graduation CGPA of 2.00 or above, with either a conditional pass or a Grade F in up to three courses after having completed at least three semesters of study; or
- (ii) You fail to attain a graduation CGPA of 2.00 or above, with a conditional pass or better in all the courses after having completed at least three semesters of study; or
- (iii) You attain a graduation CGPA of 2.00 or above, with a Grade F in up to three courses after having completed at least three semesters of study; or

- (iv) You attain a graduation CGPA of 2.00 or above and fulfil all the requirements for graduation but your CGPA is below the minimum score for entry to a degree level programme of choice.

2.5.5.2 Students in Any Semester of Study

You may be given an opportunity to resit the final examination of a course which you have failed in a previous attempt and which is being phased out due to its removal from the programme curriculum. If you are given such an opportunity, your final grade in the course will not be capped.

2.5.6 Consideration for Graduation

If you have completed at least three (3) semesters of study but are not able to graduate yet, you may be granted the Special Consideration for Graduation on the assumption that you have a high chance of attaining the required grades and/or the minimum graduation CGPA of 2.00 or better upon the completion of any supplementary assessment tasks and/or final examination resits (as stated in Section 2.5.5.1). The granting of such opportunity to any students is at the discretion of the School of Foundation and no application is required.

2.5.7 Release of Final Course Assessment Results

The final course assessment results will be released within two to three weeks after the end of the final examination period of each semester. Your end-of-semester transcript will be sent to you via email by the Office of the School of Foundation Studies on the day that the results are released. If you owe any money to the university, your results will be withheld until you have settled any outstanding payment to the university.

2.5.8 Review of Final Course Assessment Results

If you are not satisfied with your final result in a course, you may request for a review of assessment result. In a review of assessment result, your final examination answer script will be checked for the fairness of marks awarded and the possibility of errors in the summation of marks from each section of your script, and all your coursework will be checked as well to ensure all marks have been included in the calculation of your final result for the said course.

You must submit a completed "Request for a Review of Overall course assessment result" form together with a fee of RM50.00 on or before the stipulated deadline if you wish to have your result of a course reviewed. The paid fee will be refunded to you if errors are found in the marking of your final examination paper or the calculation of your final result for the said course. However, the paid fee will be forfeited if no errors are committed in the marking of your final examination paper or the calculation of your final result for the said course.

2.5.9 Retaking a Course

You may retake a course under one of the following circumstances:

(i) Failing a Course

If you receive a Grade F or a “void” grade in a course, you must retake the same course except in cases where there is no requirement to do so. You can retake a failed course multiple times as long as you have not exceeded the maximum allowable duration of your study.

(ii) Improving a Grade

If you attain a Grade D or better in a course but would like to improve your grade, you may repeat the said course once. Only the higher marks and grade obtained in the two attempts will be used for the calculation of your CGPA at the end of your studies.

You will have to pay a fee based on the credits of the course that you want to retake as stated below:

Retaking a course under any of the abovementioned circumstances involves the attendance of classes, and the submission of all coursework and the sitting for a final examination.

You may have to pay a fee based on the credits of the course that you want to retake as stated below:

Programme	Retake Fee per Credit Hour (RM)
	Courses without Laboratory or Computer-based Practicals	Courses with Laboratory or Computer-based Practicals
Foundation in Arts and Social Science	200	240
Foundation in Science	200	240
Foundation in Information Technology	200	240

Note:

- (i) You are not liable to pay the course retake fee if you fail a course and retake it the first time, and your failure in the course is not due to any misconduct or examination bar. However, if you fail a course due to a nullification of your result or an examination bar arising from a penalty for misconduct or poor class attendance, you are liable to pay the course retake fee even though it is your first time retaking the course.
- (ii) If you fail a course (for whatever reason) in your first or any subsequent retake attempts, you are liable to pay the course retake fee for retaking the same course.
- (iii) You are liable to pay the course retake fee if you intend to retake the same course to improve grades. You are allowed to do so only once throughout the duration of your studies.

2.5.10 Courses with Prerequisites

You can enrol in most of the courses when they are offered in any semester during your entire period of study. However, there are some courses which you are not allowed to enrol in unless you have successfully completed and obtained at least a Grade D in the prerequisites.

Courses with Prerequisites	Prerequisites
FCC3091 Academic Reading and Writing	FCC1071 Introduction to Academic English

2.6 Withdrawal from a Registered Programme of Study

You may withdraw from your registered programme of study by completing the “Programme Withdrawal Form” and submitting it to the Office of the School of Foundation Studies. Your application for withdrawal will be processed within five working days. You must settle any outstanding fees, room rental charges and utility bills, and return any loaned books to the library and any loaned items to the responsible departments or offices before you are allowed to leave the university.

You may be entitled to a refund of any paid tuition fee and the amount of refund is determined by when your completed withdrawal form is received as described below:

Submission of Written Notification to Withdraw	Percentage of Refund
Within the first two weeks of a new semester	50% of tuition fee
After the first two weeks of the new semester	No refund

If you withdraw from your studies within two weeks after the commencement of a semester without having paid any amount of the tuition fee owed to the university for that semester, you are liable to pay a penalty which is equivalent to 50% of the amount of tuition fee for that semester.

However, if you withdraw from your studies more than two weeks after the commencement of a semester without having paid any amount of the tuition fee owed to the university for that semester, you are liable to pay a penalty which is equivalent to the full amount of tuition fee for that semester.

2.7 Re-admission to a Programme of Study

You may apply to be re-admitted as a student to an academic programme subjected to your fulfilment of the entry requirements of the programme of your choice. However, if you have been terminated from your studies due to disciplinary problems or poor academic performance, your application for re-admission will not be considered.

2.8 Deferment of the Commencement of Study

You may choose to defer the registration and commencement of your study programme after receiving and accepting an offer of admission to a foundation programme from XMUM.

You should send in your application to defer your commencement date of study either before the start of your first semester of study or within the first two weeks of your first semester of study. Depending on the dates of your official application and the subsequent approval, you may or may not be penalised as stated below:

- (i) The partial or full payment of tuition fee is not obligated if your application for a deferment is received and approved before the start of your first semester of study; or
- (ii) A penalty equivalent to 50% of the amount of tuition fee for your first semester of study will be imposed on you if your application for a deferment is received and approved within the first two weeks after you have officially registered and commenced your first semester of study.

2.9 Intermission or Study Break

An intermission or study break refers to a period of break from normal studies taken by a student, except an incoming new student, who has already formally registered and started a programme of study. The duration of a study break is any period up to one semester, and any period of study break taken will be counted towards the maximum duration of study allowed for a foundation level programme. Students who are on study breaks will have to discontinue all their current courses and retake those courses in a future semester. In the event that a student intends to be absent from his or her studies for a continuous period of time longer than one semester, he or she will be advised to withdraw from his or her programme of study.

You may apply for a study break at any time during the course of completing your foundation level programme by completing the “Intermission Application Form” and submitting it to the Admissions Office. Your application will be processed within five working days. If your application is received and approved before the start of a semester, you are not liable to pay any tuition fee. However, if your application is received and approved in the first two weeks after a semester has started, 50% of any paid tuition fee for the current semester will be treated as advanced tuition fee payment for the future semester when you re-start your studies, while the other half will be forfeited. In the instance that you submit your application after the second week of a semester and an approval is subsequently granted, you will be subject to either of the following:

- (i) A forfeiture of all your paid tuition fee for the semester in question; or
- (ii) A penalty equivalent to the full amount of tuition fee for a semester if you have not paid any amounts of the tuition fee owed to the university for the semester in question.

Below is a summary of the impact of the timing of your application and subsequent approval on the treatment of any paid tuition fees as advanced tuition fee payment when you take a study break:

Time of Intermission Application and Approval	Percentage of Paid Tuition Fee treated as Advanced Payment
Within the first two teaching weeks of the new semester	50%
After the first two teaching weeks of a semester	0%

2.10 Change of Programme of Study or Academic Track

You may apply for transfer to another study programme or academic track if you meet the entry requirements of the study programme or academic track to which you seek to be transferred. Any previously earned course credits shall be automatically considered for transfer to your new study programme or academic track without the need for application.

(i) Study Programme Transfer

You may be eligible for automatic credit transfer subject to the following conditions:

- (a) Only courses, which are also part of the curriculum of the study programme to which you seek to be transferred and carry identical course name, course code and credit value, are eligible for credit transfer; and
- (b) The minimum grade that you attained previously in any of those courses is a Grade C.

(ii) Academic Track Transfer

You may be eligible for automatic credit transfer subject to the following conditions:

- (a) Only courses, which are also part of the curriculum of the academic track to which you seek to be transferred and carry identical course name, course code and credit value, are eligible for credit transfer; and
- (b) The minimum grade that you attained previously in any of those courses is a Grade D.

2.11 Registration and Deregistration of Courses

The courses that you are going to take in each semester shall be pre-selected for you. Your enrolment in those courses shall be automatic, without involving any application and approval procedures. However, if you wish to add or drop any of your pre-selected courses, you may do so in the first two weeks of any semester by consulting with your academic advisor. Once you have decided on the courses to be added or dropped, you are required to complete the “Add/Drop Form” and obtain the approval of your academic advisor before submitting it to the Office of the School of Foundation Studies. Any requests for adding or dropping courses that are received after the second week of a semester will not be entertained.

If you fail to turn up for classes without informing us and remain uncontactable in the first two weeks of any semester, we shall deem that you have no wish to continue your studies and consequently, you will be terminated from your programme of study.

2.12 Recognition for Academic Excellence

At the end of your studies, you shall be eligible for the High Achievers’ Award if your graduation CGPA is 3.85 or above.

2.13 Completion of Studies

You will be awarded with a certificate of completion of foundation studies if you have fulfilled all of the following conditions:

- (i) Attain a CGPA of 2.00 or above at the end of your duration of study with at least a Grade D or better in all the courses of your study programme and chosen academic track;

3.1.2 Academic Integrity

3.1.2.1 Plagiarism

You are deemed to have committed plagiarism if you copy or reproduce published or unpublished work without any proper acknowledgements, and pass it off as your own creation. Such dishonesty is unacceptable and will not be tolerated, and will result in the award of a ZERO (0) mark for the entire or part of the assessment work in question. If there is more than one guilty party as in the case of a collusion, all your collusion partner(s) will be subjected to the same penalty.

3.1.2.2 Contract Cheating

Contract cheating occurs when you use third party services offered by classmates, friends, family members, tutors, online and offline essay writing and editing service providers, artificial intelligence powered web-based platforms (e.g. ChatGPT), etc. to produce an entire piece or a part of your assessment work which you claim to be your own creation. Contract cheating is a severe form of academic dishonesty which will result in you, and your colluders if you work as a group, being penalised with a ZERO (0) mark for the entire or part of the assessment work in question.

3.1.2.3 Fabrication and Falsification of Data or Results

Making up, or changing or omitting data or results intentionally is a grievous breach of academic integrity. If you are proven to have knowingly fabricated or falsified data or results, you will be penalised with a ZERO (0) mark for the entire or part of the assessment work in question.

3.1.3 General Behaviour and Appearance

You must demonstrate positive attitude and behaviour as set out below:

- (i) You shall be mentally and physically prepared for the process of learning.
- (ii) You shall be honest, courteous and polite.
- (iii) You shall respect your peers and lecturers.
- (iv) You shall take good care of school facilities and property.
- (v) You shall attend lessons regularly and punctually.
- (vi) You shall be decently or appropriately attired while on campus regardless of whether you are attending a lecture, a tutorial class, an examination, a workshop, etc.

3.2 Academic Performance

If you are a continuing student in any semester of study and are not granted the Special Consideration for Graduation, you must maintain a GPA of at least 2.00 in every semester until the completion of your study programme. Depending on your GPAs in the immediate past semesters, you may be placed in the status of “Satisfactory Academic Standing”, “Unsatisfactory Academic Standing” or “Termination of Studies”. The diagram below illustrates the school’s policy on students’ academic statuses and performance standards.

If you have already completed at least three (3) semesters of study and are granted the Special Consideration for Graduation but fail to graduate even after resitting the final examination(s) of specified course(s) and/or undertaking specific supplementary assessment task(s), you shall be placed in one of the following academic statuses:

- (i) Probation (if your latest CGPA is 2.00 or higher but you do not fulfil the criteria for graduation yet); or
- (ii) Termination of studies (if your latest CGPA is below of 2.00)

Once you have successfully completed your foundation programme and fulfilled all the conditions for graduation, you will be given the status of “Completion of Studies”.

3.3 Submission of Coursework

3.3.1 Submission Format

You must submit your coursework in hard or soft copy, which is either handwritten or generated using a computer application such as Microsoft Word, Microsoft Excel, and Microsoft PowerPoint. If you use a computer application to generate your coursework, it is advisable to save your work in a CD as well and keep a hard copy as a backup in case there is a problem with your computer.

3.3.2 Extension of Deadline

You may ask for an extension of your coursework deadline if you are certified to be medically unfit for class by a medical practitioner or experience exceptional circumstances such as bereavement, personal tragedy or accidents. Reasons other than the preceding ones may not be considered as sufficient grounds for granting an extension.

3.4 Class Attendance

3.4.1 Attendance Requirement

You are required to maintain an attendance rate of 80% or above throughout a semester in each of the teaching and learning activities scheduled for a course, such as lectures, tutorials, laboratory practical sessions, workshops, field trips (including industrial visits) and other out-of-classroom activities.

3.4.2 Evidence of Attendance

You are required to sign your attendance for any lectures, tutorials, laboratory practical sessions, workshops, field trips or any out-of-classroom activities scheduled for any of the courses that you have enrolled in. You must personally sign or acknowledge your attendance and should never ask another person to sign on your behalf.

3.4.3 Penalties for Poor Attendance and Appeals against the Imposition of Penalties

Depending on the seriousness of your absenteeism, you shall:

- (i) Be issued a warning letter if your attendance rate falls below 80% but is above or equal to 60% in any of the teaching and learning activities scheduled for a course; or
- (ii) Be barred from sitting the final examination of a course if your attendance rate falls below 60% in any of the teaching and learning activities scheduled for the course; or
- (iii) Have your overall course assessment result provisionally nullified for a course which does not have a final examination component, if your attendance rate dips below 60% in any of the teaching and learning activities scheduled for the course.

You may appeal against a decision to bar you from sitting the final examination of a course by writing to the Director of the School of Foundation Studies. However, if you do not file any appeals against the barring decision or fail to reverse the barring decision upon appeal, you shall be deemed to have failed the course.

Similarly, you are accorded the right to lodge an appeal against a decision to nullify your overall course assessment result for a course by writing to the Director of the School of Foundation Studies. If the decision is successfully reversed upon appeal, your overall course assessment result for the course in question shall be reinstated. However, if no appeals are made by you within the stipulated time frame or your appeal is unsuccessful, the nullification of your overall course assessment result for the course in question shall be effected.

3.5 Leave of Absence

3.5.1 Authorised leave of absence

You shall be allowed to take authorised leave of absence under any of the following circumstances:

- (viii) Participation in activities organised by the university
- (ix) Attendance of religious ceremonies or activities (excluding camps organised by religious bodies)
- (x) Compassionate reasons

- (xi) Others (any other valid and justifiable reasons not listed above)

Your absence from classes under authorised leave of absence shall not be counted towards your absences. The length of your authorised leave of absence can range from one (1) calendar day to fourteen (14) calendar days. If your intended absence is longer than fourteen (14) calendar days, you shall be advised to take a study break instead of taking leave of absence

3.5.2 Unauthorised leave of absence

If you are absent from classes without any prior approval, your absence shall be treated as unauthorised leave of absence and be counted towards your absences.

If you are absent without authorisation for a continuous period of fifteen (15) calendar days or more, you shall be deemed as having no interest in continuing your studies and thus, be terminated from your programme of study.

3.6 Complaints and Appeals

3.6.1 Complaints

If you have a grievance or complaint, you may contact the Office of the School of Foundation Studies via email at sfsac@xmu.edu.my .

3.6.2 Appeals

You may file an appeal against a decision or penalty meted out by the School Board on Student Discipline due to non-academic misconduct by sending a formal letter to the Director of the School of Foundation Studies. Your appeal must be submitted within fourteen (14) working days of being notified of a decision or penalty and supported by new evidence, not previously presented to the School Board on Student Discipline.

If there are sufficient grounds to review your case, you will be called to a hearing before a panel comprising the Director of the School of Foundation Studies and three other senior academic or management staff members. The panel will examine all the written or verbal statements and evidence before making a final decision. You will be notified of the outcome of your appeal within three (3) working days after the conclusion of your case.

3.6.2.2 Academic Appeals

If you are terminated from your programme of study for below-par academic performance, you may appeal in writing to the Director of the School of Foundation Studies for a review of the decision.

3.7 Final Examination Regulations

10. One-Stop Language Hub

10.1 Services Provided by the English Language Education Centre (ELEC)

For most of you, XMUM may be the start of an exciting journey gearing you closer to your goals. In every episode of life, we make shifts in the way we think and view the world. These shifts can be reinvigorating and at times, challenging, especially when it is a new learning environment.

As a support and language training division, we are committed to helping you ease this transition by affording a positive learning experience. By seeking to recognize and hear your voice as an individual learner, we hope to design an experience that meets your expectations. We are convinced that competence in the English language will help students gain a competitive edge and, in the process, emerge as active participants in an increasingly seamless world.

The English Lounge is intended to be an informal platform to connect and immerse students in an English-speaking environment. Students will gain fluency, confidence and competence when they use the language frequently, not just in formal classrooms but also in casual settings. Effective learning transcends classroom walls and texts, for when students learn to use English in an informal environment, and become accustomed to using English to connect with others, they will be better able to appreciate the relevance of the language in everyday scenarios. Language expands our worldview and opens windows to the world.

The hub provides personalised/small-group coaching that will address varied learning needs. There is also the “Writing Clinic” that provides solutions to students’ writing woes. Besides, students will have access to a wide range of English reference books, audio-visual materials, novels, newspapers and magazines. It should be a safe haven to unwind after hours of rigorous lectures and tutorials.

An exciting feature of the hub is the self-assessed digital portal that serves as an extension to language learning, and allows students to learn English independently. This language platform combines social media tools with quality content for English language learning, and incorporates the four components – listening, speaking, reading and writing. With a uniquely blended approach to language learning, students can set their own pace and work towards their goals, while interacting with a real and diverse audience.

Learning does not take place in a vacuum. Our latest initiative “Let’s Chat” is a coffee chatroom where students gather to share and discuss topics of general interest, and to mingle with youths of different nationalities. The experience will be enriching as one gains greater insights into the colourful spectrum of humanity. A collaboration with an American youth ministry, this chat session is held every Saturday morning.

From time to time, there will be enrichment activities and national competitions which will expand the learner’s confidence and competence in the English language. Most importantly, it will promote avenues to foster meaningful collaboration and friendships.

The hub is one of the several initiatives proposed by the English Language division which is committed to providing a dynamic and enriching experience for students. It holds the conviction that language competence sets one apart and ahead in today's global village. By embracing a student-centred approach that focuses on reflective, collaborative and authentic learning, graduates of Xiamen University Malaysia will spearhead an education that innovates and empowers.

We trust that you will embrace the journey with passion and confidence. Champions do not happen overnight, but where there is confidence, there shall be competence, and we believe that before the end of your academic journey in Xiamen, all of you will emerge as confident and competent users of the English language.

Remember, when we embrace possibilities, we awaken miracles in the mind.

If you fail to renew your Student Pass on time, you will risk overstaying in Malaysia. A person who overstays is prosecutable under the Malaysian laws. Please set a reminder to alert yourself when it is time to do so.

If you are progressing from one academic level to the next, you will need to apply for a new Student Pass.

As a responsible member of the university community, you must not threaten, intimidate or abuse either physically or verbally any of your peers or any of the academic and non- academic staff of the university. Stern actions such as suspension from study or even expulsion from university will be taken against the culprits.

If you are subjected to any form of physical or verbal abuses at any time during your studies at XMUM, you should not hesitate to report the incident to the Student Affairs Office. Violent or abusive behaviour among students and staff is not tolerated.

12.4 Fire Safety and Prevention

If you smell smoke or see a fire or smoke, you should immediately activate the nearest fire alarm pull station to alert others to evacuate the building. You should proceed to evacuate the building with other occupants to the nearest designated evacuation areas (Emergency Assembly Points) and should not use lifts. If it is not safe to use the nearest exit, you should go to the next nearest available exit.

As a fire precautionary measure, you are prohibited from:

- (i) Smoking or vaping in all areas of the campus including in your own hostel room;
- (ii) Lighting up candles, incense sticks, firecrackers, fireworks, oil burners, and/or other open flame devices;
- (iii) Tampering with or blocking any fire safety equipment.

The University conducts periodic mandatory fire evacuation drills participated by all staff and students to familiarize them with a building's alarm system, the location of emergency exits, and the Emergency Assembly Points. The evacuation drills are conducted by activating the fire alarm systems of campus buildings.

Disciplinary action and even criminal prosecution may be brought against anyone found to have intentionally set off a fire alarm, tampered with any fire exits, caused damage to any smoke detectors or fire alarms and any other fire safety equipment.
